Toddler Approved!: Toddler Discipline Without Shame

There is no question that children need discipline. Lack of discipline is not kindness, it is neglect. The key to healthy and effective discipline is our attitude. Toddlerhood is the perfect time to hone parenting skills that will provide the honest, direct, and compassionate leadership our children will depend on for years to come.”

When a toddler feels understood, he senses the empathy behind our limits and corrections. He still resists, cries, and complains, but at the end of the day, he knows we are with him, always in his corner. These first years will define our relationship for many years to come.” ? Janet Lansbury, No Bad Kids: Toddler Discipline Without Shame
